Nestled at the base of Whistler Blackcomb ski resort and framed by evergreens, modern blends with alpine at one of Whistler's most iconic hotels. The Four Seasons Resort Whistler's phased interior renovation reimagines the formulaic design of a mountain lodge by juxtaposing rustic materials with contemporary freshness. The renovation of the resort's 273 guest rooms is a resounding success, and features private or step-out balconies that open to scenic mountain or valley views, suites that offer separate entertainment and sleeping spaces, and private residences complete with kitchens and laundry facilities.
