

image not found or type unknown

nk'mip cultural centre kelowna carousel 01a

Nk'Mip Desert Cultural Centre

A museum baked into Canada's only desert

Location

- Osoyoos, BC

Client

- Osoyoos Indian Band

Completion

2006

Size

- 775 sq m
- 8,342 sq ft

Collaborators

- Philips Farevaag Smallerberg

DIALOG Services

- Architecture

Download as a PDF

The Nk'Mip Desert Culture Centre's design is a specific and sustainable response to the building's unique context - the spectacular Canadian desert found south of the Okanagan Valley in Osoyoos, British Columbia. This 1,600-acre parcel of land, belonging to the Osoyoos Indian Band, is the largest intact remnant of this unique habitat. The rammed earth building is an extension of the remarkable site. It features indoor and outdoor exhibits that honour the cultural history of the band.

Meet The Team

- brady dunlop 2019 website bio

Brady Dunlop

Partner, Architect